Physical Health & Motor Development: Learning about Food

Toddlers love to mimic the adults around them. Provide opportunities for your toddler to help in the kitchen or play with items like containers, wooden spoons, pots and pans. As you do your grocery shopping, talk about the foods you are purchasing. Name the foods and their colors. Smell them and talk about how you will prepare them.

Preschoolers: Cooking with your child, whether it is pretend cooking or real cooking, is a great time for bonding. Play along when your child offers you pretend food-ask what it is, talk about how good it tastes. In the kitchen, your child can help with small tasks let setting the table, pouring, measuring, mixing, and spreading. Be sure to talk about measurements, colors, and textures, and following a recipe.

Toddler-Pre-K

It is hard to believe that the summer is almost over. We have been enjoying lots of water play and outdoor activities this summer. Our friends are keeping cool while running through the sprinklers, going down our waterslide and playing in the water tables. The children's curriculum will continue to focus on summertime themes. Also, we have been enjoying our In-House field trips every few weeks!

School Age Summer Camp

Our school age friends have been very busy with lots of water play challenges! They love taking care of the guinea pigs and making mazes for them to try to find treats. Also, the SA have been working together in whole group challenges and relay races. They have enjoyed scavenger hunts around the center for some fun prizes!
